Glendale's Environmental Efforts Win Prestigious Award. Glendale's Conservation & Sustainable Living Program has been honored by Valley Forward with the Crescordia Award. More than 130 entries were received in Arizona's oldest and most prestigious awards competition focusing exclusively on environmental initiatives. Winners were announced Sept. 17 at Valley Forward's awards gala attended by more than 600 community leaders.

The newly established Glendale office of Conservation and Sustainable Living (CSL) provides programs to educate residents, businesses and neighborhoods about good environmental practices.

At the outset, staff focused on acquiring grants, establishing partnerships and building a strong volunteer/intern program to create a successful program.

Within its first two years, CSL obtained two federal grants, enabling the city to offer Green Living classes with free incentives, hire a contract energy education specialist to initiate the city's energy conservation programs in schools (patterned after the highly successful water education program) as well as establish a 10,000-square-foot Tree Trail at the Glendale Xeriscape Demonstration Garden.

Items that are unacceptable are explosives, radioactive materials, tires, drums, ammunition and medical or business wastes. There is a 20-gallon limit on paint, oil, gasoline, antifreeze and other automotive liquids. No single container may be larger than five gallons.
